
The Long-Form Bio

Think about the last time a story really made you stop and feel something. It didn't happen because of a glossy corporate brochure or a clever sales pitch. It happened because the voice telling it felt real, like an old friend sharing a moment.

Bringing that exact level of authenticity and truth to the microphone is what earned Scott a 2025 Telly Gold Award and 2025 Webby Honoree Recognition. He didn't take the traditional route to the voiceover booth. Instead, he spent an expansive career working as a brand marketing professional for places built entirely around human emotion and escape. He shaped campaigns for icons like Southwest Airlines, United Parks & Resorts (SeaWorld Orlando, Discovery Cove Orlando, and Aquatica Orlando), and Hilton Grand Vacations. He knows exactly how to connect with an audience because he spent years studying what makes them smile, lean in, and care.

Today, Scott channels that deep understanding of human nature into his voiceover work. His signature sound is warm and deep, carries a natural, textured rasp, and feels completely unforced. Because of his background, industry professionals like Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, The City of Kissimmee, Ping Identity and Zoo Tampa at Lowry Park trusted him to tell their most compelling stories. He knows how to speak to people, not at them.

Winning a Telly Gold and a Webby Honoree recognition is proof that the industry appreciates the honesty in his delivery. If you're looking for a voice that bypasses the usual announcer tropes and just sounds like a genuine, interesting human being, you've found him.

The Short-Form Bio

A 2025 Telly Gold Winner and Webby Award Honoree, Scott's a voiceover actor who transitioned from a standout career marketing world class tourism brands like Southwest Airlines, United Parks & Resorts, and Hilton Grand Vacations. Spending years studying what makes people fall in love with an experience gave him a rare, intuitive understanding of how to truly connect with an audience.

His vocal signature is warm, deep, and subtly raspy, carrying the easy authority of a seasoned narrator mixed with the authenticity of a trusted friend. Because of his background, industry professionals like Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, The City of Kissimmee, Ping Identity and Zoo Tampa at Lowry Park trusted him to tell their most compelling stories. Specializing in premium commercials, brand anthems, and immersive documentary or scientific storytelling, Scott focuses on the human element giving a brand's vision its ultimate altitude. He's the voice you hire when you want a voice that cuts through the noise by sounding less like a sales pitch and more like a real, human conversation.
